Otto Luening

November 6, 1952

L said that he had seen Mayor Farnsley of Louisville when F was in town for a brief visit and heard of the proposal that is being developed in Louisville for commissioning new work. He agreed with JM that it was, while seemingly a "crazy idea", something that really deserved serious consideration. F's record of accomplishment in Louisville is little short of extraordinary, but L is by no means unconvinced that he could bring this project off.

JM said that he had merely suggested to Farnsley and the others in Louisville that they put this idea on paper so that it could be scrutinized by the RF officers and referred by them to others in the field.
