

ARCHIVAL COPY

24

THE WORLD'S WORK
DOUBLEDAY, PAGE & COMPANY, PUBLISHERS
133-137 EAST SIXTEENTH STREET, NEW YORK

WALTER H. PAGE, EDITOR

December 11, 1909.

Dear Mr. Gates:

We've got our man this time. I don't feel the slightest doubt about Rose. When I had got done telling him what I thought about it on Thursday, he didn't say he'd wait forever to make up his mind, but he asked two or three questions which showed that his thought went square to the heart of the thing.

I was not surprised when he surrendered to you yesterday, but I was greatly gratified.

Heartily yours,

Walter H. Page

To F. T. Gates, Esq.